ABSTRACT

The project “Aqueon” intends to create a store selling imported and exotic fish, meeting the needs of ardent aquarists in search of enthralling aquatic diversity. The initiative takes into account the expanding interest in rare and exotic fish species and presents a chance to give clients a fantastic variety of imported and exotic fish species from all over the world. The focus of the shop will be on locating and providing a wide range of rare and popular fish species, which will be carefully chosen for their visual appeal, uniqueness, and suitability for aquarium life. The shop wants to give customers access to a variety of brilliant, colorful, and exotic fish that aren't often available in nearby stores by forming partnerships with reliable suppliers.
